

Laminaar Aviation Appoints Jahan Alamzad as President - Americas

Laminaar Aviation has appointed Mr. Jahan Alamzad as President - Americas and acting COO of the Laminaar Group, overseeing world-wide operations.

Most recently, Jahan has been Managing Principal of CA Advisors, a San Francisco-based management consulting firm that advises various industries, including aviation.

He previously held positions of Director - Strategy and Analytics at PricewaterhouseCoopers and Director - Airline, Aerospace and Operations Research at Applied Decision Analysis Inc., a company subsequently acquired by PricewaterhouseCoopers.

Before becoming a management consultant, he gained valuable experience working with both American Airlines and United Airlines, two of the largest airlines in the world.

Laminaar Group CEO, Vivek Sheorey, said, "Jahan will strengthen our presence in the Americas with his deep experience in aviation management consulting and his experience working with large airlines. North and South America are high growth markets for Laminaar."

Jahan holds a Masters in Management Science and Engineering from Stanford University, as well as, a Masters in Industrial and Systems Engineering from the University of Southern California, and a Bachelor degree in Civil Engineering and Electrical Engineering from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

While Laminaar Aviation is based in Singapore, Jahan will be based in Denver, Colorado.
